FAQs

What should the customer know about your pricing (e.g., discounts, fees)?

Because we offer so many different types of shows we do not have a standard pricing system. We offer walk-around, close up, stand-up and stage shows. We also perform large stage shows for up to 20,000 people that includes lights, PA system, curtains and someone floating in mid air or appearing from seemingly nowhere. We design each show for each client. We discuss your wants,

What is your typical process for working with a new customer?

We set-up a 10 min call. Listen to what you want, ask a couple questions, suggest different options and discuss budget. We then put together a couple of scenarios for you to choose from and fine tune them as needed. Every party and event is different so we design each show for each client

What education and/or training do you have that relates to your work?

theater, trade school, acting, magic workshops, customer relations and computer training and over 20 years of actual touring and performing experience. I was lucky enough to actually be trained by a professional entertainer and toured as a stage manager and assistant for years before the torch (or in my case the Magic wand LOL) was passed down to me. I have been trained in every aspect of magic performance from performing, lighting, sound, and staging to actual building and design of sets, and magical apparatus and Illusions. Most of my shows are completely original and offer one of a kind illusions
